Southern New Hampshire University

2026-2027

This letter verifies that the courses offered in partnership with Maine Educators Consortium (MEC) are designed specifically for graduate level continuing education purposes to help support educators as they advance their professional practice, stay current in the field, and help them meet the needs of today's students. All learners taking courses for the purpose of certification, professional licensure, or salary requirements must obtain approval from their school, district, or state leadership. Such uses or transfer of graduate credits is always decided upon by the receiving institution.

Maine Educators Consortium courses taken for credit from Southern New Hampshire University (SNHU) are transcripted as graduate-level continuing education courses and are critically evaluated by the University during an academic review process ensuring academic quality standards are met. Our professional learning courses are housed internally in our course catalog, but are not externally facing to the public, per University policy and procedures.

Students can petition to amend up to twelve (12) credits of Maine Educators Consortium courses into our Master of Education in Educator Practices program at Southern New Hampshire University. Approval of the petition is determined by program leadership. Course completion is documented with a letter grade on an official University transcript. Southern New Hampshire University is accredited by the New England Commission for Higher Education.

We hope this additional course information is helpful. If you have any additional questions regarding this information, please do not hesitate to reach out to our team at CourseCredit@snhu.edu.
